Fennemore Craig Attorney Elected to Board of Directors of the Arizona Chamber of Commerce & Industry

PHOENIX, AZ – Fennemore Craig, a leading Mountain West law firm, announced Alexis Glascock, an attorney in the firm’s Phoenix office, has been elected to serve on the board of directors for the Arizona Chamber of Commerce & Industry.

“Members of our firm are encouraged to serve as leaders of organizations that advocate for the interests of our clients,” said Steve Good, managing partner of Fennemore Craig. “The Arizona Chamber of Commerce & Industry is one such organization, and we congratulate Alexis on her election to its board of directors.”

Glascock practices in the area of government affairs where she has lobbied for clients including the American Heart Association, the Arthritis Foundation, the Arizona Association of Health Care Plans, the Arizona Cardinals, the Arizona Uniform Laws Commission, and the Greater Phoenix Economic Council. She has also successfully assisted with the passage of bills in industries ranging from trucking to trampolines. Glascock earned her J.D. from the University of Virginia School of Law, her M.A. from Harvard University Graduate School of Arts and Sciences and her B.A. from Wellesley College.

The Arizona Chamber of Commerce and Industry serves as the collective voice for Arizona business at the state legislature. The Arizona Chamber exists to represent the interests of commerce and industry in a way that enhances the state economy.
