Greg Miskulin is our firm's administrator in Fresno and is responsible for the day-to-day management and administrative operations.

Prior to joining the firm, Greg spent 15 years in the restaurant industry where he was an owner-operator of a major national brand franchise restaurant. At one point, Greg supervised daily operations of 15 locations located throughout the Central Valley, including over 150 employees. During this time Greg developed a real world appreciation for the legal issues that impact business owners on a daily basis. These experiences ultimately lead to Greg's decision to become an attorney, and help others solve these same problems. As it turns out, he has applied his experience in both worlds to the business of law. Nothing brings Greg more joy than helping clients, attorneys and staff reach their goals and to succeed.

And if you want to keep up with Greg in his free time, you better be ready. He loves the outdoors, and the more remote, the more difficult, and off-grid, the better. He believes there is nothing like bagging a peak that took days, sweat, energy and all of your conscious focus to summit.
