MATTHEW WILCOX

Matt Wilcox is the managing director in our San Diego office, where his practice focuses primarily on commercial, industrial and retail real estate transactional work, as well as general business, corporate, and financing matters. He is known as a practical, pragmatic, efficient problem solver who places a high value on client service, personal integrity, hard work and achieving our client's business objectives.

His practice includes:

Real Estate. All aspects of commercial real estate transactions, including acquisitions, dispositions, leasing, construction and financing of retail, residential (development), commercial and industrial properties.

Financing. Secured and unsecured lending transactions; tax exempt bond financing; construction and permanent financing.

Business. Business transactions, including entity formation, operational transactions, acquisitions, sales and mergers.

Matt has served as lead counsel for Fortune 500 companies in the successful acquisition and development of several hundred real estate projects throughout California. He also represents private universities, affordable housing developers, local businesses, regional real estate developers, and construction companies. Many of Matt's clients have worked with him for his entire career.
