

NATHAN "NATE" SARGENT

Nathan "Nate" Sargent is an attorney in Fennemore's Business Litigation practice group. He advises clients regarding business litigation, employment law, and business torts. To Nate, a career in law was a natural fit—one that has allowed him to combine his deep curiosity with a strong commitment to service.

Nate was born and raised in the Inland Northwest, a region he considers his forever community. Committed to staying rooted in the area, he chose to pursue his education within the community he knows and values. Nate earned his law degree and graduated from Gonzaga University School of Law. During law school, he served as an intern at the City of Spokane Valley City Attorney's Office, a fellow at the Washington State Association of Justice, and Technical Editor of Gonzaga Law Review. Nate is also a proud Washington State University alum, having graduated from the Honors College and Carson College of Business. During his undergraduate studies, he developed a strong interest in the intersection of business and law. His honors thesis, which examined the evolving landscape of privacy law and its implications for businesses, was awarded a pass with distinction—the highest level of recognition.

When Nate is not in the office, he enjoys backpacking in the mountains, water skiing, cooking, and spending time with his family.
