“ The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena...who at the best knows, in the end, the triumph of high achievement, and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat. ”

-Theodore Roosevelt, "The Man in the Arena"

CHRISTOPHER WALTHER

Christopher Walther's transactional practice focuses on corporate, business, and commercial real estate matters.

As a seasoned business attorney, Chris counsels clients on corporate organization, governance and restructuring (including mergers and acquisitions), as well as negotiating, drafting, interpreting, complying with and minimizing risk under a diverse range of business agreements and contracts. Chris aids commercial lenders and borrowers in negotiating, documenting, modifying and foreclosing on secured loans, and advises sellers, buyers, lessors and lessees in acquiring, financing, operating, leasing and selling commercial real and personal property. He has also developed a broad legal opinion letter practice, and his passion for this work has made him a sought-after attorney in this area.

With an enthusiasm for client service, Chris is adept helping his clients to identify their goals and make important legal decisions, often acting like an in-house counsel. Chris knows how to get answers — even if this means referring a matter to another attorney. Throughout Chris's career as a business attorney, clients have relied on him to pinpoint the most important legal issues and recommend strategic solutions, giving them peace of mind and a clear blueprint to solve their problems. Typically, this process includes weighing and resolving the various litigation, employment, regulatory, gaming, intellectual property, tax and environmental concerns businesses often face.

Originally from Portland, Oregon, Chris graduated from Brown University, where he was a proud member of the 1999 Ivy League Champion Brown Bears football team and was selected to the 2002 Academic All-Ivy team. Chris returned to Oregon and earned his Juris Doctor degree from the University of Oregon School of Law. As an entrepreneurial business attorney, Chris chose to practice in Las Vegas for its tremendous diversity and potential. Outside the office, Chris enjoys spending time with his wife and two young boys.
