JEFFREY P. ZUCKER

Jeff's practice focuses primarily on real estate and corporate transactions. He counsels and represents privately and publicly held companies and their owners in a wide variety of business matters. He has represented both lenders and developers in large and complex workouts and foreclosures. He also regularly plans, structures, negotiates and implements all types of business initiatives and transactions including very large, multi-million dollar transactions, as well as mergers and acquisitions, financial transactions, and various real estate projects.

Jeff sought a career in law because he enjoys applying analytical thinking to real-world scenarios. He likes seeing what his clients envision and build.

Away from work, Jeff is active in the Las Vegas Jewish community and is a stamp collector. He is also an avid traveler, and participated in a Game of Thrones tour of Croatia.
