DANIEL M. REILLY

Daniel Reilly is a civil trial lawyer with more than 30 years of trial experience as lead counsel in complex cases around the country. He has been lead counsel for a broad spectrum of complex multi-jurisdictional commercial litigation matters, including both the prosecution and defense of class actions for individuals and major corporations. His cases have been throughout the United States. Dan has served as litigation counsel for the Denver Broncos Football Club, PERA, AIG, NOLHGA (National Organization of Life and Health Insurance Guaranty Associations), Liberty Media, Medtronic and a number of other corporations and individuals. When representing plaintiffs, he has achieved multiple million-dollar jury verdicts.

Dan's colleagues in the legal profession, judges as well as lawyers, value his courtroom skills and experience and eagerly attend his presentations. For many years, he addressed the Colorado Judicial Conference on timely subjects like the evidentiary issues raised by the use of technology in the courtroom, and the standards used to determine the admissibility of scientific and other expert opinions.

Before joining Fennemore, Dan founded Reilly LLP in Denver with a commitment to being the best trial firm in the country.

REPRESENTATIVE CASES

Dan began his career handling personal injury cases for injured individuals. In his practice, Dan settled hundreds of cases for his clients, and tried dozens of cases successfully to jury verdicts. Many of the cases were complex and involved multiple defendants, novel questions of law and complex legal, procedural and medical issues.

- Dan served as lead plaintiffs' counsel in seven state class actions brought against regional phone provider U.S. West for installation delays experienced by 250,000 customers. The U.S. West cases settled for $36 million in settlement funds and $7.2 million in attorney's fees.

Dan Reilly served as lead trial counsel in a dispute over the ownership of the Denver Broncos. In 1984, Edgar Kaiser sold his share of the Denver Broncos Football Club to our client Pat Bowlen – retaining "right of first refusal" on any future sale of a portion of the team. Fifteen years later, after Pat Bowlen had offered a stake in the club to former Broncos quarterback, John Elway, Kaiser sued Bowlen for breach of contract in both federal and state courts. Dan was able to obtain a successful jury trial verdict in the Federal case, which progressed to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit, where a complete victory was obtained. In the related state district court, summary judgment was granted in favor of Mr. Bowlen. The Colorado Court of Appeals affirmed the district court's ruling, the Colorado Supreme Court denied certiorari—and Pat Bowlen maintained control of the NFL franchise. Dan also represents PDB Sports, Ltd. and Bowlen Sports, Inc. in a currently pending declaratory judgment action concerning a right of first refusal granted in 1984.

- Dan was a lead counsel on the trial team that successfully represented DCP Midstream, LP, one of the nation's largest natural gas processing companies, in a jury trial involving complex oil and accounting issues. Successors to a gas purchase and processing agreement sought multi-million-dollar payments for natural gas processed out of the DJ Basin in Weld County. DCP counterclaimed for overpayments, which the jury awarded.

Dan was lead counsel on the trial team representing a Colorado refinery owner seeking contractual indemnification from the refinery's former owner for clean-up costs resulting from leakage from an underground pipe. Following a 3-week confidential arbitration that took place in April and May 2017, the parties reached an amicable settlement.

- Dan was lead counsel and successfully represented Target Brands, Inc., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Target, which holds and protects all of the company's trademarks, patents, and other intellectual property. The Colorado Department of Revenue sought more than $40 million in corporate income tax from TBI. After a two-week trial, the Court entered judgment reducing the tax assessment to $12.8 million

A group of automobile dealerships were facing a purported class action claiming that new cars were equipped in violation of the Colorado Consumer Protection Act and hired Reilly to defend its interests. After winning landmark reversals at the Colorado Court of Appeals and Supreme Court of the trial court's initial approval of class treatment, Reilly team members were called on once again to defend against Plaintiffs' renewed attempt at certification of two different proposed consumer classes. This five-year battle for class certification culminated in an extensive four-day evidentiary hearing. Agreeing with Reilly and its client that individual examinations of each car purchase file were necessary and class wide inferences could not be made, the Jefferson County District Court (Tidball, J.) denied Plaintiffs' Second Motion for Class Certification on Rule 23 superiority and predominance grounds.

Dan was trial counsel to AIG and its insurance and broker-dealer subsidiaries in structured finance, intellectual property, and unfair competition litigation, and in arbitration proceedings before the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority. This representation included protecting the rights of AIG as a certificate holder in connection with a proposed $8.5 billion settlement of RMBS claims against Bank of America.

Dan headed a plaintiff's jury trial team which obtained a multi-million dollar trademark infringement judgment in Colorado federal court against H.J. Heinz.

Seven state insurance guaranty associations sued a regional brokerage firm following the liquidation of MidWest Life. The claims were for fraud and breach of fiduciary duties. After three successful jury trials in Colorado, Washington and a three month trial in Iowa, the brokerage firm agreed to settle the cases for $30 million.

Dan represented Trane U.S. Inc. in the re-trial after appeal of a Colorado federal court action brought by a former franchisee of the company. In the re-trial, Dan and his team obtained a defense judgment which was affirmed in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit.

Dan represented Liberty Digital, a subsidiary of Liberty Media in a Colorado state court breach of contract dispute involving the cable music systems against a national cable company, Comcast Corporation. The case was successfully resolved after opening statements were made to the jury.

Dan headed the trial team which twice successfully defeated class certification on behalf of the Old Line Life Insurance Company in a consumer/uniform business practices case filed in state court in California. The matter settled prior to trial.

Dan served as lead counsel defending AIG Life in a multi-million dollar copyright infringement case filed in a Texas federal court which was successfully resolved prior to trial.

Dan was lead defense counsel representing a national life insurance company in a national class action brought in state court in New Mexico. The matter settled before trial.

Dan was lead counsel for multiple plaintiffs in highly-complex litigation against several bank trustees and numerous other defendants, securing significant recoveries through settlement and substantial judgments. The litigation arose out of a multi-state fraud scheme involving National Prearranged Services, Inc. (a Missouri-based preneed funeral contracts seller) and its two related insurance companies domiciled in Texas. Dan was retained by 35 state life and health insurance guaranty associations, NOLHGA, and the Texas Special Deputy Receiver to seek recoveries from over 40 defendants, including multiple bank trustees, an accounting firm, and the former officers and directors of NPS and the insurance companies. Plaintiffs' claims included negligence and breach of fiduciary duty against the bank trustees for allowing the preneed trust funds to be looted, accounting malpractice, and RICO (Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act) claims against the former officers and directors. Settlements with most defendants were negotiated before trial, resulting in large recoveries for the clients. A five-week jury trial was held in federal court in Missouri in early 2015, where a jury verdict of $391 million (including a punitive damages award) was entered against PNC Bank. After the Eighth Circuit remanded the case against PNC Bank for a trial to the Court, Dan again served as lead counsel and head of the trial team that secured a combined $106 million judgment ($99 million in compensatory and punitive damages and $7 million in attorney fees and litigation costs) against PNC Bank for breach of trust. PNC's appeal of the $106 million judgment is currently pending.
