LYDIA YU

Lydia Yu supports Fennemore's Business Litigation team with a strong foundation in both practical legal experience and ongoing legal education. Currently enrolled in law school at Seattle University School of Law, Lydia successfully completed her 1L year and continues to balance rigorous academic pursuits with a dedicated paralegal career.

Since beginning as a legal intern with the King County Bar Association in 2018, Lydia has gained extensive hands-on experience in litigation support, particularly within boutique personal injury firms. This background has fostered a meticulous approach to case management, client communication, and trial preparation, skills that are now applied to a broad range of business litigation matters at Fennemore.

Lydia brings a thoughtful and detail-oriented perspective to every case and is committed to delivering high-quality support while progressing toward a future in legal practice.

In her free time, she enjoys hiking, camping, exploring the Seattle food scene, and adding to her library of books and video games.
