BRANDIN A. INOUE

Brandin A. Inouye is an associate in Fennemore's Fresno office and a member of the firm's Business & Finance and Intellectual Property practice groups. He is a transactional attorney who works with clients on business transactions, commercial contracts, mergers and acquisitions, venture capital transactions, secured lending, corporate governance, and regulatory compliance matters.

Brandin represents companies, business owners, investors, and lenders in drafting, reviewing, and negotiating transaction documents and commercial agreements. His work includes financing documents, acquisition agreements, and other contracts that support business operations and strategic transactions. He also advises on regulatory issues, including matters involving the California Department of Insurance, and intellectual property considerations that arise in commercial transactions.

Before becoming a lawyer, Brandin served for six years in the U.S. Navy, where he operated nuclear power plants aboard the USS Enterprise. He later worked in the power plant construction industry in Chicago. Brandin earned his J.D. from Georgetown University Law Center and his bachelor's degree from the University of California, Los Angeles.

Outside of work, Brandin enjoys spending time with family, reading, and traveling.
