

CARSON TRIGUEIRO

Carson Trigueiro is a business litigation attorney with experience in assisting with numerous types of both business and trust estates disputes.

Carson started his Fennemore journey as a summer associate, where he drafted numerous legal research memos and a Memo of Points and Authorities for a case proceeding to trial. Prior to joining Fennemore, Carson clerked at the Fresno City Attorney's Office, gaining valuable experience in arbitration hearings and handling the intake process for the city's eviction protection program. He also worked as the constituent services assistant for the City Council President.

Carson earned his law degree from the University of Southern California Gould School of Law. He also attended the University of California, Los Angeles, and West Hills College for his undergraduate degree. There, he pitched for the West Hills College baseball team, helped to organize campus events to spread awareness and provide resources for victims of relationship abuse, and volunteered with Central Valley Project.

EDUCATION

J.D., University of Southern California Gould School of Law

B.A., University of California, Los Angeles, magna cum laude

AREAS OF PRACTICE

Business Litigation

ARTICLES AND PRESENTATIONS

Co-Author, "Substance Over Formality in Proposition 65 Notice Compliance – First District Court Finds Substantial Compliance Sufficient," California Water Law & Policy Reporter, July 2026

Co-Author, "Sites Reservoir Moves Forward: Understanding the Federal ROD and the Road Ahead," California Water Law & Policy Reporter, March 2026

ADMISSIONS

California