ANDREW L. STEIN

Andrew L. Stein is a Director in Fennemore's Business Litigation group, assisting clients in commercial credit and collections disputes.

Prior to joining Fennemore, Andrew served as AT&T's AVP and Senior Legal Counsel, handling thousands of high-end commercial collection matters and defending hundreds of collection-related consumer claims against AT&T. He also led ongoing collaborative process improvement initiatives with outside counsel, in-house legal professionals, and client teams in the United States and Europe.

Andrew has been praised for his strategic thinking, innovative improvements to company collection practices, and his excellent rapport with clients. He is a skilled negotiator, writer, project manager, and presenter.

Andrew is a former published cartoonist and an avid Philadelphia sports fan. He is happily married with two grown children who are in creative fields.
